Imported from Rogow, Poland, and crafted by WBP, the Jack Classic rifle stands out with its robust features. WBP, a renowned Polish firearms manufacturer, supplies parts and firearms to police, military, and civilian shooters worldwide. The Jack rifle is chambered in 7.62x39mm and operates as a semi-automatic. It accommodates a broad range of magazines and drums. This rifle combines classic aesthetics with modern functionality, featuring an elegant laminate stock and a deep, rich black metal finish. The barrel, provided by FB Radom, is hammer-forged and chrome-lined, ensuring durability and impressive accuracy. With factory serial numbers on most major components and the Polish Eagle emblem on the sight block, this rifle not only offers exceptional performance but also enhances its collectability and resale value. If you're in search of an AK rifle that embodies traditional style and superior quality, the WBP Jack could be the ideal choice. It comes with a single 30-round AK-47 magazine.

The WBP Jack is designed based on feedback from enthusiasts who appreciated the WBP Fox series but desired a model with a standard AKM rear stock trunnion. While the FOX series featured the Beryl trunnion system for installing the Beryl Optic Rail, the Jack series reverts to the traditional AKM setup. The FOX rifles have become a benchmark for Kalashnikov aficionados, known for their exceptional quality and classic features. Although WBP's rollout of new models has been gradual, focusing on quality over quantity, they now offer ten different models, each upholding the high standards you expect. The WBP team remains dedicated to incorporating customer feedback and will continue to introduce new and exciting firearms and accessories in the future.

Please note, for compliance with US 922R regulations, the pistol grip, muzzle brake, magazine, and gas piston are considered US-made parts. Optics and mounts are not included.
