The Jack 100 Series Classic rifle, imported from Rogow, Poland, and produced by WBP, blends traditional Polish craftsmanship with the advanced features of the AK-100 series, delivering superior performance and reliability. WBP is a well-respected firearms manufacturer based in Poland, providing firearms and parts to military, law enforcement, and civilian users around the globe. Chambered in 7.62x39 and designed as a semi-automatic rifle, the Jack 100 Series is compatible with a variety of Mil-Spec magazines and drum magazines. This model boasts several key features from the AK-100 series, including a 90-degree gas block, a 24mm muzzle brake, and dual bayonet lugs. While the rifle is crafted in Poland, it undergoes additional modernization in the U.S. by WBP USA to comply with 922r regulations. The result is a striking rifle, complete with a polished laminate stock and a sleek, deep black metal finish.

The Jack 100 Series is equipped with a hammer-forged, chrome-lined barrel made by FB Radom, Poland's premier military supplier. This barrel ensures exceptional durability, precision, and longevity. As a collectible item, the rifle also features factory-engraved serial numbers on important parts and proudly displays the Polish Eagle emblem on the left side of the sight block, adding both aesthetic appeal and value. Each rifle is shipped with a 30-round AK-47 magazine, making it an ideal choice for those looking for a reliable, modernized version of the AK platform with solid Polish engineering. The AK-100 series, introduced in 1994, represents the latest evolution of the iconic AK rifle family. While visually similar to the AK-74, the AK-100 series offers versatile caliber options for a wide range of applications. Developed by Kalashnikov Concern, the series builds on the proven AK-47 design, incorporating modern enhancements such as a 90-degree gas block, 24mm muzzle brake, and dual bayonet lugs. These updates improve both the rifle's functionality and appearance, setting it apart from earlier iterations.
