The Jack 100 Series Classic rifle, imported from Rogow, Poland, and produced by WBP, seamlessly blends traditional Polish craftsmanship with advanced features from the AK-100 series, offering outstanding performance and reliability. WBP, a respected Polish firearms manufacturer, supplies weapons and parts to military, law enforcement, and civilian customers across the globe. Chambered in 5.45x39mm and designed as a semi-automatic rifle, the Jack 100 Series is compatible with a wide variety of Mil-Spec magazines and drum magazines. This model incorporates several key elements from the AK-100 series, including a 90-degree gas block, a 24mm muzzle brake, and dual bayonet lugs. Though assembled in Poland, it is further upgraded in the U.S. by WBP USA to ensure compliance with 922r regulations. The rifle features a striking laminate stock and a smooth, deep black finish, combining both form and function.

The rifle’s collectability is enhanced by factory-engraved serial numbers on vital components, along with the iconic Polish Eagle emblem displayed on the left side of the sight block. These touches not only elevate the rifle’s aesthetic appeal but also its potential resale value. The rifle ships with one 30-round AK-47 magazine, making it a perfect choice for those looking for a high-quality, modernized AK rifle with exceptional Polish engineering. Introduced in 1994, the AK-100 series is a modern evolution of the iconic AK rifle platform. Although it shares visual similarities with the AK-74, the AK-100 series offers a range of caliber options, providing versatility for various operational needs. Designed by the Kalashnikov Concern, the series builds upon the proven AK-47 design while incorporating key updates, such as a 90-degree gas block, a 24mm muzzle brake, and dual bayonet lugs. These refinements improve both the rifle’s functionality and its distinct appearance, setting it apart from earlier AK models.
